THE 1954 AIRMONT

PRESENTS

The bear-- symbol not only of our athletic teams, but also of our student body as a whole-- is held in affection and respect by students past and present.

Shirley Perry, Editor-In-Chief Virgil Christian, Business Manager

INTRODUCTION

The exciting, dangerous, fast moving world of today is ours to live in and to make more stable and peaceful. Its problems have largely molded our lives and now challenge our future.

Nevertheless our MAHS world of living, learning, and playing has been a happy, carefree time--influenced by the spirit of our homes and community, our school, and the mountains that circle us. We will carry its imprint with pride. This third edition of Airmont brings you a lasting picture of our high school world-- our friendships, strivings, accomplishments, and growth-- a world that is ending all too soon but leaving a memory that will be cherished always.

Mount Airy-- its homes, churches, industries, places of business, and schools set like jewels at the gateway to the mountains-has given us a good world in which to live and mature.

COMMUNITY

Our community has given our high school world its own particular flavor-- a blend of humor, friendliness, belief in fundamentals, and love of beauty-- which we shall always cherish.

OUR MOUNTAINS

"--- surrounded by a ring of mountains, hazy and blue in the distance--- I could not imagine a horizon that was not cut by a distant mountain rim--- where a cloud might sit on a man's front step and mist his windows---."

--Robert K. Marshall, Little Squire Jim and Julia Gwynn.

OUR SCHOOL

Our school represents the fulfillment of the dream of many people for a great number of years. Although we have used the new building for three years, the thrill and pride we take in it are undiminished.

DIRECTORS OF OUR WORLD

The Mount Airy schools are fortunate to retain the experience and interest of the administrative staffs to an unusual degree. Three of the five board members have served our school for over 25 years each; Superintendent L.B. Pendergraph for 27 years; and Principal H. M. Finch for 28 years-- 6 as teacher, 22 as principal.

Though we take for granted the smooth running of our high school world, we realize it is not accomplished without a great deal of effort and time on the part of the administration. Without fanfare this group renders a selfless service that merits our gratitude.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Mrs. Priscilla Horton Clerk

Mrs. Betty Moir Secretary

Those who work in the office and in the cafeteria endear themselves to us, not only because of their excellent service, but also because of their friendly interest.

Our cafeteria workers are: Mrs. Salena Moxley, Mrs. Lucy Beamer, Mrs. Verna Gilbert, and Mrs. Kate Jackson.

ADMINISTRATION

Superintendent, principal, school board member--each in his own way works that our high school world may be the very best that can be provided. We are fortunate to have such able friends of long standing to be truly interested in our welfare.

A CANDID VIEW OF OUR HIGH SCHOOL WORLD

Activities of the classrooms, clubs, and athletic department occupy a justly prominent place in our high school world. However, some of our most treasured memories will be the little day-by-day school life events that are typical of our world and that give spice to its more serious aspect. These are the scenes our camera recorded for you.

We meet at the north entrance before school starts.

Bus drivers Nancy Brown, John Martin, Dexter Smith, Stuart Brown, and Jimmy Boyd help get us to school.

SCHOOL A DAY IN OUR HIGH

Before school and after, Mr. Bill Johnson and his staff, Melissa Gwyn, and Estella McCloud work

Assemblies provide a welcome break in our day.

OF MEMORIES

Future freshman day and an introduction to our high school world.

Fall, football, and parades.

MANY AND VARIED

EXPERIENCES IN OUR

HIGH SCHOOL WORLD:

Members of the High Spots and Airmont staffs at Chapel Hill for the NCSPA annual conference, a tense moment at a basketball game, projectionists getting ready to show a film, the band's new truck, a dinner given by the home economics department, the fifth grade with no room at North Main in our stagecraft room, Mrs. Pruett teaching the use of the mimeograph, and our high school members of the CAP.

HOME COMING ADDS EXCITEMENT TO

OUR WORLD

Five girls were elected by the student body from the ten homecoming candidates nominated by the football players. In a second election the students chose from the five a queen whose identity was a closely guarded secret until she was crowned during the half-time festivities of the homecoming game with Tri-City Central on October 30.

Climaxing an effective performance by our band and twirling corps and parade of sponsors and homecoming candidates, Captain Virgil Christian announced that Margaret Jones, escorted by Dale Phillips, had been elected homecoming queen of 1953.

As Barbara Jester holds epitath for rival Tri-City High, "Husky" Elaine Hoover crowns the "great beauty," Daniel Ellis. This fake portrayal of the homecoming crowning won homeroom 6 second place in the parade.

INFORMAL MOMENTS GIVE OUR WORLD NEEDED CHANGE.

Mrs.McKinney accepts jury duty to help the seniors put on a dress rehersal for their play.

Miss Holder puts aside her red pencil to make one of her specialties-sugar-cake.

Miss Shumaker ends a busy day.

Mrs.Pendergraph has dinner with home economics students.

Janey Waggoner, Tommye Cox, and Margaret Jones go window shopping.

Chipper Calloway, cheerleader mascot, rehearses a new yell.

Anne Allred, Shirley Perry, and Mary Nell Parker relax after a hard evening's work on the annual at Miss Simpson's.

CLASS WORK AND TEACHERS IN

In our world of living and learning our teachers and the class work they supervise give us facts, practice in the ability to study and acquire knowledge, exercise in thinking, and contact with inspiring and interesting personalities—all necessary ingredients for a well-rounded life. As we have taken advantage of these priceless opportunities in varying degrees, we have experienced varying degrees of the joy of attainment and have matured at varying levels. Our gratitude for our faculty and the class experiences they offer will grow with the years.

OUR WORLD:

SEPTEMBER-OUR 1953-'54 SCHOOL WORLD BEGINS

WE MEET NEW FACULTY MEMBERS AND WELCOME THOSE RETURNING.

The four new teachers become acquainted with material which they are to use. Getting books out of the bookroom for their students the day before school opened are: Mrs. Anne Pruitt, Miss Mary Lou Johnson, Mr. Frank Steed, and Miss Eleanor Shumaker.

Mrs. Kate Barringer, Mr. Arnold Ramey, Mrs. Lavinia Mackie, and Mrs. Caroline Sydnor-- four returning faculty members-- enjoy a discussion and make us feel at home for the new school year.

This was a familiar scene in all homerooms at the beginning of school. Mrs. Neal is checking books to Jerry Nester.

WE ALL HAVE CLASSES IN THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Miss Eva Holder English, Journalism Mrs. Mary Neal

Our English department consists of five instructors teaching seventeen regular English classes, plus journalism and commercial English. The fundamentals of grammar, ability to think, speak and write correctly, and knowledge and appreciation of literature are stressed in the regular courses. Senior commercial students take commercial English. The journalism class, which publishes High Spots, is drawn from eligible seniors.

Mr. Wallace Shelton English, Coaching

Miss Annie Thomas English

A new word sends Barbara Fowler and Dick Phillips to consult Webster. Vocabulary building is a regular part of English IV through both literature and grammar work. A new word displayed each day, spelling books, and vocabulary notebooks for words found in reading and discussions furnish the material. Games such as take-it-or-leave-it, husking, and baseball help polish vocabularies before inspection.

Students in Mrs. Neal's English classes show both their artistic ability and their grammatical knowledge by drawing posters and illustrating rules. Sylvia Hantzopoulos and Ray Hemrick display work from English III.

SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS FIT

Two well-equipped laboratories and lecture rooms have given our science department a boost. This year two teachers conduct two classes in chemistry, one in physics, and five in biology.

Four instructors teach twelve classes of mathematics including arithmetic, algebra, geometry, and trigonometry.

Physics students enjoy experiments more than book work, so J. C. Kirkman and James Merritthave everyone's attention as they demonstrate pressure in liquids.

Perhaps there is a twentieth century Urey or Hare in the making as students explore the mysteries of the chemistry lab. Frances King and Margaret Joyce seem satisfied with their effort to produce oxygen.

In biology class Janice Leftwich and Owen Shelton prepare for a trip into microbe land by selecting slides to view under the microscope.

US FOR OUR MODERN WORLD

Mr H. M. Finch Trigonometry

Mrs. Lorraine McKinney Chemistry, Biology

Mr. Arnold Ramey History, English, Aviation

Mr. Frank Steed Biology, Arithmetic, Physics

> Mrs. Caroline Sydnor Algebra, Geometry

Mrs. Vera Thomas Algebra, Arithmetic

Four heads are often better than one-- especially if a trig problem is involved. Bud Warren, Elise Harris, John Clifton, and Tommye Cox join forces to find the correct answer.

"You forgot to cancel your 4 a²," explains algebra teacher Mrs. Sydnor to Tommy Kerr, who is having difficulty proving the value of x.

Shirley Paul, Don Parris, Charles Kirkman, Charles Smith, and Phillip Gough prepare for the day's work in aviation with their models and work books. They find it fun to be members of the first aviation course offered in MAHS.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES, SOCIAL SCIENCES, LIBRARY MATERIALS,

Mrs. Kate Barringer Social Science

ger Mrs. Lavinia Mackie History, Spanish Miss Ada Haymore

Miss Jean Simpson Librarian

Mr. Sam Moir Civics, Physical Ed. Coach

History IV students use the library to prepare for class. Ed Foy checks the stock report for progress of his mythical investments while Gary Perry and Jimmie Sparger read up on the latest world events.

Spanish students find corresponding with Spanish-speaking pen pals from south of the border adds interest to their regular class work. Jo Anne Woodie and Gary Perry use dictionary and map to translate their letters and locate their Mexican correspondents.

Mythology, history, grammar, translation-- "tempus fugit," and before the hard-working Latin II students know it, they will be preparing to end their high school Latin years.

AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION GIVE US A WELL-ROUNDED WORLD

Four Latin classes, two Spanish, two world history, three United States history, five civics, one world problems, two physical education and a well-stocked library-- all these offer us variety for our every need.

Physical education classes have been handicapped by the lack of a gymnasium. The hole back of the school building and work of students promise better things for the future. Mr. Williams and his afternoon shop class (inset) took time off from their construction job to prepare the prize-winning float for homecoming day.

Worldhistory students find the Age of Feudalism a fascinating topic. Thomas Burrus and Jo Ann Gough study a bulletin board display on the subject.

Magazines are interesting and the dictionary is a big help in enlarging one's vocabulary agree Anita Massey and Wilma Jarrell as they take advantage of our collection of 4800 books and 60 periodicals.

MUSIC AND VOCATIONAL SUBJECTS

In addition to class work girls in the home economics department enjoy the activities of the F. H. A. Club.

Left to Right, Seated: Miss Bailey, Betty Haynes, Martha Jones, Peggy Carter, Ruth Brown, Alice Jessup, Norma Brown, Annette Baber, Nancy Brown, Connie Nance, and Shelby Marsh. Standing: Martha Jean Walker, Barbara Brower, Betty Royal, Barbara Hull, Billie Jean Horton, Wilma Smith, Mary Frances King, and Dorothy Hull.

Wade Roberts, Linda Moseley, Paul Hull, and Ed Norman work industriously on their plans in mechanical drawing. Below is the shop building in which they work.

Mr. George Williams clears up a point for boys in his shop class.

GIVE US TRAINING FOR SPECIAL INTERESTS

Mrs. Anne Pruitt Commercial

Miss Mary Lou Johnson Commercial

Mr. Charles Johnson Band, Glee Club Mr. George Williams Shop Miss Eleanor Shumaker Commercial

Glee club and band appearances show the results of hours of class work in the music department. Director Charles Johnson turns his attention to a small part of the band during an auditorium performance.

Three commercial teachers offer four classes in typing, three in shorthand, three in bookkeeping, three in business arithmetic, one in law and salesmanship.

Becky Hatcher stops to look with amazement at her typing, while Mary Mon Key and Glenda Snow go busily on their way in the typing laboratory.

PERSONALITIES OF OUR

The friendships, challenges, and opportunities offered by our contacts with other students have immeasurably enriched our school years. The differences in personality, appearance, and ability make the people in our high school more interesting to us. Some have led while others followed, but each has done his part in making MAHS the school we will continue to hold in affectionate regard.

You will want to remember everyone who made up your high school world, so each student is pictured in this section, by class.

ACTIVITIES OF OUR WORLD

Our school world extends from the classroom into extra-curricular activities that add much to our enjoyment and well-rounded growth. Through our clubs, service groups, and organizations we are better able to develop our talents, leadership, cooperation, and understanding, and to satisfy our desire for fun and variety.

Barbara Fowler and Mr. Ramey count the votes from room 108 for the presidential election.

All qualified juniors were nominees for the student council election. In the primary election the five receiving the largest number of votes were eligible to run for president. Each candidate chose a vice-president to run on his ticket. In the 1953 elections two students eligible for president decided to run as vice-presidents instead, leaving three slates of officers. A campaign manager was selected by each candidate. Posters, speeches, an assembly program -- all resulted in a spirited campaign. In the final election the candidate and his running mate receiving the majority of votes became president and vicepresident of the student body.

The student council is composed of a representative and an alternate elected from each homeroom and the presidents of all school organizations. To remain on the council a student must maintain a scholastic average of 85 and a citizenship average of 90. A qualifications committee checks on the grades of all members.

Each week the two homerooms which have best cleaned their assigned areas of the building are awarded a view-master and a blue ribbon for a week. The clean-up committee checks all parts of the building each day and awards the prizes each Tuesday.

The constitution for the student body, started last year, was completed this year. The committees of both years are to be praised for their excellent work.

Robert Smith is sworn in as the 1953-54 Student Council President by outgoing President, Bill Beasley.

Robert Smith explains the intricate workings of the audio-vision equipment to the freshmen on Future Freshman Day, sponsored by the student council.

The journalism class is made up of selected seniors who have done superior work in English.

Each spring three candidates for Editor-in-Chief are selected from the eligible juniors-- one by the High Spots Staff, one by the advisor, and one by the junior class. The juniors vote on these candidates by secret ballot. The student receiving the highest number of votes is Editor-in-Chief of High Spots, the runner-up is associate editor. Other staff members are named by the editors from the class enrollment.

Miss Holder and Barbara Fowler, business manager, are delighted that a check on High Spots books assures them of enough money to keep them out of the red.

Picture editor Sallie Ann Carroll checks with Miss Holder on cuts to be ordered from the engraver.

Inside circulation manager Elise Harris is helped by Margaret Jones and Dick Phillips as she happily checks on the High Spots subscription drive. For the third time in four years the high school has subscribed 100 per cent.

The staff meets daily as a class, doing both text book work and the laboratory work of publishing eight issues of the school newspaper.

Securing funds to finance the paper, making assignments, and planning layout, writing, correcting, and rewriting stories, proofing the galleys, and working with the local printers to iron out any difficultiesall these efforts and more go into the High Spots we enjoy, but too often take for granted.

Another issue is off the press! Peggie Britts pauses to look at a stack of High Spots as she prepares to deliver them to subscribers.

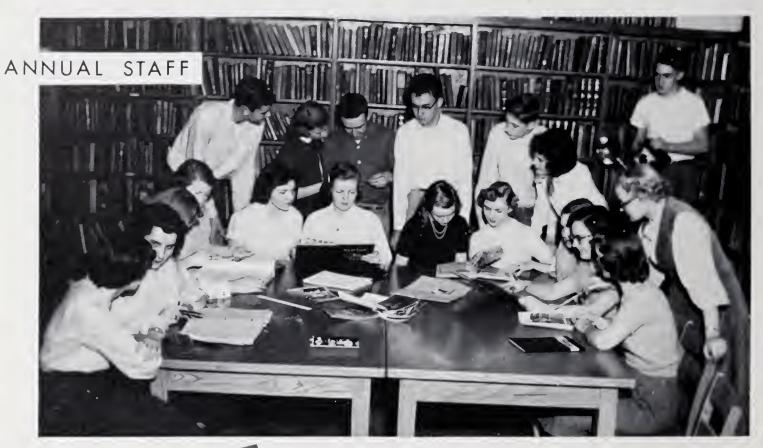

Bonnie Blue and Dick Freeman proof the galleys of articles they wrote.

Bonnie Blue, Gayle Dobson, Miss Holder, and Dick Freeman visit the Times to proof make up before High Spots is printed.

THEY RECORD OUR HIGH SCHOOL

Smith Holcomb works in the dark room he set up for Airmont. Smith and David McCarty have enlarged pictures for both publication staffs this year.

David McCarty, also familiar with the new camera, discusses with Sarah Springthorpe how to adjust the camera for different pictures.

WORLD IN PICTURES AND IN WORDS

Carol Dobson and Larry Childress put up the posters that Larry drew for the Airmont subscription drive.

Tommye Cox and Sarah Springthorpe check off and identify the pictures as they come in.

Mary Louise Boyd and Virgil Christian worked last spring to set up a card index of business firms and their advertising record to enable us to get an early start in soliciting advertisements.

Checking last minute details in Airmont dummy are staff members Betty Royal; Mary Mon Key; Ann Allred; Shirley Perry, editor; and Mary Nell Parker, assistant editor.

Happy over the results of the staff's work, Shirley Chappell and Libby York prepare to send Airmont material to the publisher.

OFFICE PAGES HELP MAKE OUR

PAGES ON DUTY FIRST PERIOD

Robert Smith and Ruth Bondurant file the teachers' mail in the office.

Office pages have many important duties, such as counting money and banking, checking absentee lists, typing, mimeographing, answering the telephone, locating students' records, sorting mail, and running errands. These students are an important factor in our smooth running high school world.

"Which room sold the most Christmas Seals today?" Jackie Gilley, Barbara Fowler and Peggie Britts collect money from homerooms for ticket sales and special community drives and tabulate results.

"Attention, please." Edwin Goad makes an announcement over the P.A. system as Dorothy Brown and Billy Tracy look on.

AND SECOND PERIOD

HIGH SCHOOL WORLD RUN EFFICIENTLY

Mr.Finch, teachers, and students rely heavily on the assistance of office pages, who willingly give up their study periods to help with routine office matters. The fifteen students who serve as pages this year report few dull moments around the principal's office.

Mary Louise Boyd and Jo Ann Woodie demonstrate the use of a new mimeograph machine on which absentee lists are run off each day.

THEY WORK FIFTH PERIOD

"Where is Susan Jones 6th period?" Gaye Jackson and Barbara Jester check through the office files.

SIXTH PERIOD HELPERS

"Mount Airy High School!" Frances King answers the telephone while Jerry Nester and George Wright take the message to be delivered.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS CREATE A HELPFUL

Betty Gunnell and Martha Jean Walkerfile cards for the new library books.

Need help? Ask the girl at the library charging desk. In addition to checking books in and out, library assistants help students find references, file catalogue cards, sign slips, prepare new books, type cards, prepare and file magazines and newspapers, and help with all library housekeeping. These girls willingly give up their study hall to help make our library world more efficient and enjoyable.

Betty Royal and Foye Willis prepare the magazines and news-papers for the shelf.

Mary Mon Key checks out a book for Jimmy the files.

ATMOSPHERE IN OUR WORLD OF BOOKS AND READING

Library work grows on the MAHS students. The twelve 1953-1954 assistants—two on duty each period—represent 23 years library service. Three new assistants replaced last year's graduates; the other nine returned with one or more years experience. Betty Royal holds the record with four years of library work.

Patricia Tickle and Sarah Springthorpe help inventory the library at the end of the year.

Wilma King and Sarah Doggett prepare new books for use. Eager students hardly allow new additions to reach the shelves before checking them out.

"Football book? Right here!" Margaret Wyrick and Wanda Willard work on a bulletin board display.

ACTIVITIES OF TRI-HI-Y GIVE

The Tri-Hi-Y composed of eighty junior and senior girls, is one of the most active clubs in school. Members have been kept busy working on special projects built around the monthly themes-- organization, dedication of new members, giving, honesty, boy-girl relationships, leadership, and Christianity.

Proceeds from a bake sale and the sale of Christmas cards supplemented the regular dues. The Tri-Hi-Y joined the Hi-Y to give a talent show for which the admission was an article of food.

Mary Louise Boyd, group chairman in charge of the talent show, Bonnie blue, and Virgil Christian leave to distribute the food.

Margaret Jones, Mary Louise Boyd, Peggy Britts, Shirley Paul, and Janey Waggoner check and sort the food brought in by the talent show.

US FUN AND INSPIRATION

This food was distributed to needy families Thanksgiving and again Christmas. The two clubs also joined in the establishment of Monday morning devotions.

The annual Christmas assembly (this year a play, The Christmas Tree), a sweetheart dance, the spring banquet -- all highlighted the 1953-54 year. The club lived up to its motto: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community highest standards of Christian character."

At the spring banquet the 1953-54 officers installed were: Margaret Jones, president; Gayle Dobson, vice-president; Rebelomer, chaplain; Glenda Snow, reporter; and Shirley Perry, sergeant at arms.

Tommye Cox, group chairman in charge of the Christmas play, supervises while Sallie Ann Carroll, Edward Norman, and Bobby Hawks do the work of putting up the scenery.

Gayle Dobson, Sallie Ann Carroll, Margaret Jones, Rebecca Hatcher, Jo Ann Palmer, and Glenda Snow attended the camp at Blue Ridge. The programs were planned before the school year began.

Margaret Jones, Lynda Ann Pell, Jo Ann Palmer, and Linda Cox were Mount Airy's delegates to the Tri-Hi-Y conference held at Rock Hill, South Carolina.

HI-Y ACTIVITIES PROMOTE LEADERSHIP,

The Hi-Y Club, made up of sophomore, junior, and senior boys, meets regularly every week. The Hi-Y has complete charge of twirp season. They also helped the Tri-Hi-Y girls with a talent show, the Christmas play, Monday morning devotions, and distributing food to needy families. Each year the two clubs jointly sponsor a banquet for all members of the clubs. This year Mount Airy was host to a convention for boys from both North and South Carolina. Our Hi-Y was responsible for securing facilities for about 150 boys. MAHS is proud of its Hi-Y.

The boys really have a lot of fun making the girls act as their slaves during twirp season. Judy Coe assists Ben Brannock into a car while Betty Tilley unwillingly carries Billy Belton's books for him.

CHARACTER, AND ENTERTAINMENT

Hi-Y President Virgil Christian introduces Joe Marley, of Southern Pines, North Carolina, to Robert Smith.

Leon Davis won second place in the annual talent show. He was accompanied by Sallie Ann Carroll.

Joe Curtis' singing won him first place in the talent show.

At the annual spring banquet 1954 Hi-Y officers were installed. They are: Virgil Christian, president; Ben Brannock, vice-president; Johnny Martin, secretary; Dick Freeman, treasurer; Robert Smith, chaplain; and John Clifton, sergeant at arms.

No football game would be the same without the support of these girls. Majorettes are Penny Boyles, Linda Cox, Margaret Joyce, and Sarah Springthorpe. Cheerleaders are Juanita Dix, Wilma Jarrell, Margaret Jones, Betty Royal, Jo Ann Palmer, Rebecca Hatcher, Betty Tilley, Lucy Tilley, Sarah Doggett, and Sandra Midkiff.

Band Officers: James Merritt, J. C. Kirkman, Charles Carter, Maynard McMillian, Ray Hemrick, and Robert Smith pose proudly beside the new "band wagon."

OUR HIGH SCHOOL WORLD REVIVES OLD ROME

The Latin Clubs are composed of students from the second year Latin classes. Each class elects its own officers and holds regular meetings. Two of the most interesting projects of the club are the Christmas party and the spring banquet.

At the Saturnalis, Latin songs and games were enjoyed and in expensive presents were exchanged.

Early in the spring the clubs joined together in the hard work and fun of preparing the banquet. The night of the banquet was a true return to old Rome, for everyone wore Roman costumes, and the meal was strictly Roman style.

"Friends, Romans, Countrymen, lend me your ears!"

A group of girls begins the task of making the laurel head-bands for the annual banquet held April 21, 1953.

Libby York places a stole on Libby Finch, who was on the entertainment program at the banquet.

A TOUCH OF SPAIN COMES TO OUR WORLD

The Spanish Club is made up of second year students. Judy Pruett and Johnny Martin demonstrate a Spanish folk dance for club members.

At their annual party, the Spanish students enjoy opening the pinata.

The students enjoyed "Little Red Riding Hood," in Spanish. Charles Carter, the woodsman takes great pleasure in killing the wolf, Johnny Martin.

1953 SENIOR PLAY HIGHLIGHTS OUR DRAMATIC WORLD

Dramatic moments with Delores Mills, as Karen Andre, on the witness stand kept the audience tense.

"Night of January 16th," presented by the senior class Friday, May 8, had the whole town talking in terms of guilty or not guilty. A real murder trial couldn't have provoked more reaction. So realistically did the seniors put across their unusual mystery that members of the audience left with the feeling they'd like to get Delores Mills aside and ask her if she did kill Faulkner. Whether or not they agreed with the jury's verdict, all praised highly the dramatic entertainment.

The success of the finished product resulted from many hours of hard work by committees, cast, and director. Mr. Ramey checks work being done on the set by Hugh Talley and Sonny Cashwell (Standing), James Key and Jimmy Haynes (Kneeling).

ATHLETICS IN OUR WORLD

Athletics add excitement and spirit to our high school world. Memories of the times we almost froze to death at a football game or got sore throats from yelling at a basketball game will warm us and draw us closer whatever our future brings. Adequate facilities provided in our new football field and the gymnasium at the Y. M. C. A. have paid off in excellent attendance at games and whole-hearted support for our teams. Sportsmanship, physical development, school spirit, and good clean fun-- these are the aims of our sports program.

FOOTBALL RULES OUR HIGH

Harvey Ayers - Shrine Bowl Bound

After working in the hot August sun two weeks the Granite Bears showed results of their work by promptly winning five of their first six games. The first to fall under the paws of the Bears was Franklin. Asheboro quickly followed Franklin, but Salisbury battled Mount Airy to a 6-6 deadlock. The next week the Bears showed their spirit and hustle by coming from behind 13-0 to beat Hanes Hi in the last half 14-13. Mount Airy continued to roll by defeating a strong Greenville club 13-6. Gray Hi of Winston Salem proved a big stumbling block to the hopes for a State Championship team by beating the Bears 25-6. Mount Airy retaliated and beat Mineral Springs, lost a heartbreaking home-coming game to Tri-City 14-13, and then closed out a fine season by beating Walkertown and Wilkes Central. The final record stood seven wins, one tie, and two losses -- the best since 1950 and a promise of a return to the MAHS winning tradition.

To the '53 club go our thanks and appreciation for an excellent job and to the '54 Bears, our best wishes for a successful season.

Football superlatives awarded trophies at the annual Lions Club Football Banquet were: (kneeling) John Clifton, best blocker; Harvey Ayers, best defensive player; (standing) Captain Virgil Christian, most valuable and best sport; and Gary Brown, most improved.

Returning lettermen for the 1954 season are:(Clockwise:)Gary Brown, Grey Childress, Zane Galyean, Agee Hiatt, Charles Kirkman, Jerry Nester, James Reynolds, and (Center:)Gary Sutphin and Rayno Wilson.

The 1953 baseball season saw the Mount Airy nine winten games and lose ten. Of all the teams played, only three beat MAHS twice. One of these was a strong triple A club. Aftera slow beginning, the Bruins gained experience and rose from the AA cellar to be regarded as one of the strongest teams in the conference. Thanks largely to the excellent, pin-point pitching of James Reynolds and Dick Belton.

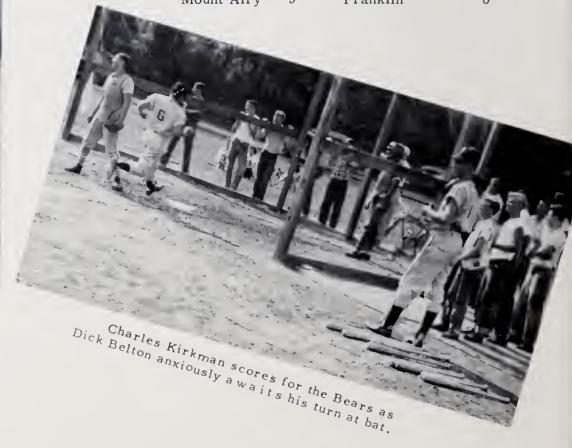

Prospects for the '54 season are bright as the Bears count on ten returning lettermen to spark a large club.

TURNS TO THE DIAMOND AND CINDER PATH

Handicapped by a lack of girls participating, the 1953 Mount Airy track team tied Franklin for second place in the high school division of the eighth annual track meet at Veterans Park, as Elkin won top honors.

Frank Kurtz of Mount Airy won individual honors with 15 of our 39 points by winning first place in the 200-yard dash, the 100-yard dash, and the broad jump, and then anchoring the winning 880-yard relay team for the Bears.

Girls out for track included Betsy Smith, Betty Royal, Frankie King, and Shirley Clifton.

Taking the hurdles for Mount Airy are: Ben Brannock, Frank Kurtz, and Bill Adams.

On the mark and set for the dash are: Ben Brannock, George Pace, Frank Kurtz, Bill Adams, J. T. Morgan, and Virgil Christian.

FRIENDS OF OUR SCHOOL

Business men in our town have made it possible for us to provide this lasting picture of our high school world. We appreciate this proof of their interest and hope they are repaid many times over by your good will. We present this lasting record of our business friends. Please thank them and patronize them-- now and in the future.

Best Wishes to the Class of 1954!
